The Innovations in International Philanthropy Symposium brings together donors, foundations, companies, and investors who are actively engaged in international philanthropy and seeking to propel forward the capacity and impact of their globally-minded work.

Co-hosted by the Network of Engaged International Donors (NEID Global) and The Philanthropic Initiative (TPI), the Symposium is designed to support the growth of strategic and collaborative international philanthropy by offering participants the opportunity to explore trends in philanthropy, gain practical skills and knowledge to increase the levels and impact of their giving across borders, learn from peers, and network with funders actively engaged in supporting international development efforts.

Sponsorship of the Innovations in International Philanthropy Symposium helps ensure this important conference can happen and promotes innovative international philanthropy.
